

The E&P working principles to repeatedly deliver project success

At E&P we stipulate agility through governance over agility through the standardisation of the delivery model.

Why?

Simply because we are convinced that empowered delivery teams apply the most suited delivery model - and delivery models can vary between the teams. Only with good governance, it is possible to encapsulate multiple delivery models in such a way that Executives retain control and are able to make quick decisions.

The quicker an organisation makes decisions, the more agile the entire delivery.

We derived working principles and concepts to empower our consulting teams to repeatedly implement efficient governance structures:

1. Split decision research & decision making
2. Implement a formal decision process
3. Establish an end-to-end accountability
4. Manage the cultural impact
5. Measure and communicate effectiveness

Do you want to learn more about our working principles?

Do you still focus your efforts on the implementation of a standardised delivery model, or do you already focus on Good Governance?